DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cho, US 5,680,176.

a) the claimed a digital encoder is met by A/D 44 which encodes the analog signal into a digital signal (broadest interpretation of a digital encoder, no compressively encoding as disclosed).

b) the claimed a digital decoder is met by D/A 52 which is connected to the caption data detection ckt 46 which receives the digital encoded signal from circuit 44

c) the claimed control means is met by control signal generation circuit 54, which receives the horizontal and vertical signals from the input signal (Fig 3) in addition to the caption detection ckt 46 which detects the VBI data (periodic)

d) the claimed selecting means...is met by video signal switching circuit 56 which outputs either the input analog signal (from clamping circuit 42) or the caption data (when said window occurs based upon the sync/clock data from 54 via D/A 52).

e) the claimed wherein the digital decoder...is met where the D/A circuit receives the clock signal based upon the sync signal (Fig 3).

In considering claim 2,

Is met by D/A which receives the vertical and horizontal sync signal from the analog input signal.

In considering claim 3,

In considering claim 5,

The control circuit 54 along with caption detection circuit 46 which provides the active video and caption data for display.

In considering claim 7,

Cho discloses the digital encoder 44 and digital decoder 52 connected caption detection circuit 46 and switch 56, the medium interface being the detection circuit.

In considering claim 8,

Cho discloses a display device 50.

In considering claim 9,

Refer to claim 1 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cho, US 5,680,176.

In considering claim 4,

The applied Cho discloses the use of a luminance signal, thus not explicitly recite the "CVBS" signal as claimed, although as described in applicant's disclosure the use or either/or would be an alternative, thus being an obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, since both types of signals provide the same result.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

The Patent Electronic Business Center (EBC) allows USPTO customers to retrieve data, check the status of pending actions, and submit information and applications. The tools currently available in the Patent EBC are Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) and the Electronic Filing System (EFS). PAIR (<http://pair.uspto.gov>) provides customers direct secure access to their own patent application status information, as well as to general patent information publicly available. EFS allows customers to electronically file patent application documents securely via the Internet. EFS is a system for submitting new utility patent applications and pre-grant publication submissions in electronic publication-ready form. EFS includes software to help customers prepare submissions in extensible Markup Language (XML) format and to assemble the various parts of the application as an electronic submission package. EFS also allows the submission of
